

Contents

Series Preface	iv	Chapter 2
Editor’s Introduction	v	History and Foundations	28
Acknowledgments	vii	Theoretical Foundations	29
Introduction	2	Constructivist Theory	30
		Brain-based Theories	31
		Instructional Theories	34
		Learning Theories	36
Chapter 1		Multiple Intelligences Theory	37
What Is Differentiated Instruction?	8	Learning and Thinking Style Profiles	40
An Overview	10	Conclusion	45
The Foundation of
Differentiated Instruction	12
Retaining Individuality
vs. Individual Instruction	14
Implementing Differentiated Instruction
in Lesson Planning	16
Content	16
Process	20
Product	22
Conclusion	26

Chapter 3		Chapter 4
Why Teach This Way?	48	One Teacher, Many Roles	66
Effects and Benefits	49	Defining Roles	67
My Classroom and Research	49	Warm Demander	67
Benefits for Students	53	Partner in Learning	69
Positive Behavior	53	Proactive Designer	76
Working Harder	55	Flexible Manager	79
Engagement in Learning	57	Reflective Practitioner	81
Benefits for Teachers	58	Conclusion	82
Time to Connect	59
Stronger Relationships with Students	60
More and Deeper Content	61
Reach More Students	62
Conclusion	64

Chapter 5		Chapter 6
Getting Started	84	Curriculum	115
Proactive Curriculum Design Concepts	85	Developing Differentiated Curriculum	116
Using Students’ Interests and Background	86	Scaffolding	119
Examples of Students’ General Interests Pre-Assessment	88	Orbital Studies	121
Examples of Students’ Art Interests Pre-Assessment	92	Tiering	123
Using Students’ Prior Knowledge and Readiness	97	Flexible Grouping	124
Using Students’ Learning Styles	105	Learning Contracts	126
Using Learning Styles without Pre-Assessment	107	Centers and Stations	127
Pre-assessing Multiple Intelligences (MI) Preferences	109	Entry Points	130
Using Multiple Intelligences Preferences with or without Pre-Assessment	109	Cubing	130
		ThinkDots	135
		Chunked Learning	137
		Chunking Example	137
		Learning Menus	138
		Think-Tac-Toe	138
		RAFT	140
		Choice Boards or Cards	141
Conclusion	111	Final Considerations	144

Chapter 7		Chapter 8
Differentiated Lesson Examples	147	Tips for Success	175
Differentiated Instruction in Action	148	Making Implementation Work	176
Elementary: Keep It Real—Grade 2	149	Let One Step Lead to Another	176
What was differentiated in this lesson?	155	Find Accountability	177
How was the lesson differentiated?	156	Be Respectful to Others Who May or May Not Want to Differentiate Instruction	178
Why was it differentiated?	156	Make an Action Plan	180
Middle School: Freedom—What Does It Really Mean?	156	State Your Mission	180
What was differentiated in this lesson?	160	Set Attainable Goals	181
How was the lesson differentiated?	160	Decide on Short- and Long-Term Goals	181
Why was it differentiated?	162	Advocacy: Helping Others See the Value of Differentiated Instruction	182
High School: Clay Pod Memory Vessel	162	Conclusion	187
What was differentiated in this lesson?	171
How was the lesson differentiated?	172
Why was it differentiated?	172
Conclusion	173

Appendix:
Resources & Worksheets 191

Chapter 5

- A.5.1 Museum Guide Sheet
- A.5.2 What Makes Me ME
- A.5.3a What's My Learning Style?
- A.5.3b What's My Learning Style? – Teacher
- A.5.4 Oral Learning Style Inventory
- A.5.5a Planning for Differentiation by Learning Style Using Four Square
- A.5.5b Planning for Differentiation Using Four Square—Example
- A.5.5c Planning for Differentiation by Learning Style (Four Square)
- A.5.6 WOW! You Are Smart!
- A.5.7a Planning for Differentiation by Multiple Intelligences Preference
- A.5.7b Planning for Differentiation by Multiple Intelligences Preference

Chapter 6

- A.6.1a Station #1: Monoprint
- A.6.1b Station #2: Stamping
- A.6.1c Station #3: Collograph
- A.6.2 Cube Template
- A.6.3 Think-Tac-Toe Example
- A.6.4 Art Criticism RAFT
- A.6.5a Setting the Scene
- A.6.5b Setting Map
- A.6.5c Setting, Events, and Character Actions

Chapter 7

- A.7.1 Freedom
- A.7.2 Let Freedom Ring Cards
- A.7.3 Freedom Choice Board
- A.7.4 Freedom Choice Board Contract
- A.7.5 Freedom: Choice 1
Norman Rockwell's paintings
Four Freedoms

Index 217

Download reproducible resources and worksheets at DavisArt.com/DI/Resources

