

SchoolArts articles are written by art educators just like YOU!

There is no better way to advocate for art education than by sharing your ideas and experiences. Having your work published in America's longest-running art education magazine will make your fellow teachers, administrators, parents, and students take notice. Published articles make valuable additions to your portfolio, employment applications, and grant applications.

Wondering what to write?

SchoolArts publishes a wide variety of articles—studio lessons for all levels, K-12; advocacy; classroom management; innovative responses to everyday challenges art teachers face; differentiated instruction; and more.

Just think about your successes in the art room and start writing!

ARTICLE

Topic suggestions: Write about a successful lesson (early childhood up to high school), areas of concern or interest, or approaches to teaching art.

Word Count: 800 words or less.

Tips: Use a conversational style when writing. Think about how you would express your idea to a fellow educator.

Submission Checklist:

- Your article as a Word document (preferred) or PDF.
- Four or more high-quality digital images of final artworks and/or process photos.
- Captions for each photo (student's name, grade level, title, description)
- Resources such as videos, websites, handouts, templates, etc.
- Signed student permission forms.

Author Benefits

- Honorarium of $75 to be paid after publication.
- One-year digital subscription to SchoolArts.

CLIPCARD

A ClipCard is a one-day or shorter lesson for any grade from early childhood up to high school.

Word Count: 250 words or less.

Submission Checklist:

- Grade level of your lesson.
- Essential Question(s).
- Objective(s).
- Materials list.
- Procedures, include 4–6 steps
- Brief assessment or reflection activity for students.
- At least one high-quality digital image of final artwork(s).
- Captions for each photo (student's name, grade level).
- Signed student permission form(s).

Author Benefits

- Honorarium of $50 to be paid after publication.
- One-year digital subscription to SchoolArts.

Submit your content at SchoolArts.com/Submissions.